The History of Value Creation

Providing 70 Years of Continuous Support for the World's Electronics

TAIYO YUDEN has since its founding provided to companies around the world a variety of electronics components, including communications devices and inductors, with a focus in particular on multilayer ceramic capacitors, the Company's mainstay product. TAIYO YUDEN's products in the past were used in transistor radios, TVs, and gaming equipment, and in recent year have come to be widely used in areas such as smartphones and tablets, as well as automobiles and industrial equipment, where electrification is becoming increasingly prevalent. The Company continues to grow thanks to its ability to create value alongside the advancement of electronic equipment.
